

The Little Gleaner,

from Thompson's Seasons

A favorite Ballad with an HARP, Accompaniment,

Printed & Sold at Fentum's, Music Warehouse, N^o 78, corner of Salisbury Street, Strand.

Just Published with an HARP Accompaniment, Each 6.^d

The Cottage Boy — The Poor Little Boy — Blyth Mary — The Poor Old Man

Arabella — The Humble Cot — A favorite Rondo by Henner

Affettuoso

La-vi-nia was a Maiden fair, all

Nature without Guise, Her heav'nly Form and beauteous Air, each

Shepherd us'd to prize. For her Palemon fondly fight'd, nor did he fight in vain, for he had wealth and owned his Love, which eas'd a while his pain, for he had wealth and owned his Love, which eas'd a while his pain.

2

Tho she was humble in low state,
 By Birth was nobly born,
 But Providence ne'er leaves the Child,
 Of Virtue unto scorn;
 Doom'd by hard fortune's frowns to glean,
 She left her Cottage door,
 Nor heav'd a sigh but tript the Green,
 Contented altho poor.

3

But Heav'n who ever smiles upon
 A virtuous heart distress'd,
 Palemon sent to heal her cares,
 And give her sorrows rest;
 Then join'd in Love and Hymens bands,
 This truly happy pair,
 And now sweet gratitude commands,
 Her Love's maternal care.

For the Ger. Flute.

So